

Colloquium

Bernd Schroeder

Louisiana Tech University

Friday, October 19, 2012 at 3 pm in BIOS 2.168, Biosciences Building

Why Do We Need Calculus, Anyway?

This talk will explain the fundamental ideas of calculus and then present a multitude of fascinating and useful applications of calculus and of post-calculus mathematics. Although a background in calculus will allow attendees to better connect the ideas to their own background, much of the talk will be understandable to a general audience.

After the talk, all are invited for cookies and conversation sponsored by Sigma Xi.